You can make a difference and help human trafficking survivors by joining ALIGHT’s mobilized legal network! As an attorney — whether as solo practitioners or part of a law firm — you can help local survivors in Colorado to rebuild their lives.

About Legal Needs Matching Program

ALIGHT works with attorneys who contribute their expertise in a unique way to fight for the rights of trafficking survivors. Attorneys are critical to survivors’ ability to remove the legal obstacles to recovery and to access jobs, education and other opportunities after they escape. ALIGHT is a Colorado-based 501(c)(3) nonprofit and accredited pro bono legal services provider.

Below are the high-needs legal areas in CO. Survivors request advocacy, counsel and/or representation on matters such as:

- Family Law: custody and visitation, divorce, security issues involving survivor and/or family members
- Criminal Law: criminal records, criminal defense, criminal justice advocacy
- Civil Law: identity change, fraud, tenant’s rights, employment, debtor’s rights, benefits issues, litigation

How It Works

You receive targeted pro bono opportunities based on your expertise through a needs-matching app (think: Lyft). You can assist with the discrete request, or wait for another matter depending on bandwidth.

With a convenient way to respond to specific and relevant requests, precious time is not wasted. You can focus on the impact.
