You can make a difference and help human trafficking survivors by joining ALIGHT’s mobilized legal network! As an attorney — whether in private practice or a law firm — your substantive legal knowledge can support local survivors in Colorado to rebuild their lives.

About Legal Needs Matching Program

ALIGHT works with attorneys who contribute their expertise in a unique way to fight for the rights of trafficking survivors. Attorneys are critical to survivors’ ability to remove the legal obstacles to recovery and to access jobs, education, and other opportunities after they escape. ALIGHT is a Colorado-based 501(c)(3) nonprofit and accredited pro bono legal services provider.

Below are the high-needs legal areas in CO. Survivors request advocacy, counsel, and/or representation on matters such as:

- Family Law: custody and visitation, divorce, security issues involving survivor and/or family members
- Criminal Law: criminal records, criminal defense, criminal justice advocacy
- Civil Law: identity change, fraud, tenant’s rights, employment, debtor’s rights, benefits issues, litigation
