

ANNOUNCEMENT:
JOIN THE ALIGHT BOARD OF DIRECTORS
To Unlock a Fresh Start for Human Trafficking Survivors

The grave injustice of human trafficking reaches far and deep. On a global scale, traffickers currently exploit over 20 million people and profit $150 billion annually from illegal and immoral use of their victims' bodies and labor, frequently using technology to viciously harm their victims. Human trafficking - a severe form of exploitation of another person for sex or labor through force, fraud, or coercion - disproportionately affects women and children. Individuals are victimized through sexual exploitation or exploitation of their labor in such familiar businesses as construction, nail salons, domestic work.

It happens in neighborhoods across the US, including in Colorado. In fact, our state is a "hub" for human trafficking - given such drivers as our central location, our international airport, major interstate highways and a growing economy.

National Human Trafficking Hotline statistics of calls, 2018

For a survivor, it is extremely difficult to break the cycle of exploitation because the impacts of trafficking persist. Free legal services are critical to survivors' ability to get back on their feet, find meaningful employment and reintegrate back into our communities. ALIGHT was started in 2014 to make sure we can help survivors rebuild and thrive.

About ALIGHT

ALIGHT is a high-impact, Colorado-based non-profit that that unlocks a fresh start for survivors of human trafficking by connecting them to specialized pro bono legal services. Our work using innovative technology to rapidly connect survivors to a mobilized network of attorneys has been nationally-recognized by the American Bar Association (ABA) and National Association of Social Workers (NASW).

Operating as a “startup nonprofit,” we have a proven model for making a difference in survivors’ lives and are now entering our next exciting phase of growth as an organization. To learn more, visit www.alightnet.org.
